Directions:

At the intersection of Shirakawa-dori and Imadegawa-dori there is a Bank of Kyoto on the corner, and across the street on the north side is the start of the Philosopher's Path, where you'll see a small sign that reads 哲学の道.

Walk towards the Silver Pavilion in the direction of the mountains in the distance, where very shortly you'll find a small koban (Police Box) on the left. Directly next to the koban is a small street, take that and immediately make the first right paralleling the canal. Walk for about a minute or so to the first left, where in the distance, you'll see a long stone staircase. Walk to that, and we're at the base, on the left, just up the small set of steps.
